New Publications and Logo Items

The AAW launched a couple of publications and logo items at the Tacoma symposium. The new Masters series of videos has started with the tape on Rude Osolnik. This is a retrospective tape rather than a techniques/training tape. A techniques book was also launched called "Techniques and Projects III from American Woodturner, 1996-1998". You can check them out on the pages below.

Also launched were AAW hats and mugs. The multi-color hat was a huge hit at the symposium.

TIP OF THE MONTH!

x Send me your ideas !!!! I will print them here.

Steve DeJong writes from the Pikes Peak Woodturners:

Are you having trouble finding something to pry open the cover on the can of wax? Replace the metal lid with the plastic lid from a small can of coffee. The lid fits great and it is easy to take off with out using any tools. Also, you don't have to worry about the wax drying up in case you did not get the metal cover hammered on!

AAW Website Changes:

The tilde (~) character in the URL for AAW's web site is no longer necessary to access the site. This seemed to irritate a lot of people.

You may now use any of the following URLs:

American Association of Woodturners Local Chapter Email List

Recently, Roger mentioned that the AAW.ORG domain was unavailable. I checked, and found that it was registered this past december, 1998.

Since this very subject (having www.aaw.org be our domain address) was raised at last year's symposium, and since no action was taken, we lost the opportunity - it now belongs to the Advertising Association of Winnipeg, I hope that, if the board decides anything at this symposium, that we react fast enough to not lose the opportunity.

For instance, the name www.woodturning.org is apparently unused. (according to Internet.) For $70, we could own the name for 2 years, even if we don't use it. (some call this domain parking.) I think that the address IS important- it connotes a level of competency and legitimacy, and independence that might not otherwise be projected.

More News From the AAW:

The AAW home office has moved into bigger digs. The telephone, fax, and email are all the same. This new facility is much bigger than the old office. It will allow us to do a lot of things that we couldn't in the 500 ft that the staff had before. The additional room will allow us to bring together our inventory and processes. Thanks to those members of the Minnesota Woodturners chapter who are volunteering their labor for the move.

Please note down the new address in your orange AAW Resource Directory. I've updated the web site with as many of the addresses as I could find. Please email the URL to aaw@rtpnet.org if you find the old address while surfing through the AAW site.

The new address is:

American Association of Woodturners
3499 Lexington Ave. N., Suite 103
Shoreview, MN 55186

Please note that the office email will be off-line for a few days next week until the computer systems get back up and running. Please urge your members to be patient for a few weeks until the staff get reorganized in the new facility.

Regional Symposia:

Please tell your members that there are some exciting opportunities for regional symposia associated with local chapters. They are listed on the AAW web site at <http://www.RTPnet.org/~aaw/sym/minisym.html>. The Tennessee symposium is next weekend as the California picnic is next Saturday. The Georgia symposium is in September. You have a lot to choose from in October, the Ohio Valley symposium is 8-10, the Texas Turn or Two is October 9-10, and the Rocky Mountain event is October 16th at Fort Collins, CO. The Carolina Woodturning Symposium is November 6-7.

Tacoma Video Tapes:

Phil Pratt is finishing up three outstanding video projects from the Tacoma symposium. The publications committee has reviewed the two techniques tapes which will be great additions to the woodturners library. The instant gallery tape is now in process. All three tapes should be available by the time you get your Fall American Woodturner.

Fall American Woodturner:

The Fall 1999 American Woodturner is nearing completion and you should have your copy soon. Look forward to articles covering the Tacoma Symposium as well as quality articles on projects and techniques. There is a profile of Michael Peterson and Jim Hillburger as well as project articles on music boxes, turned cord pulls, and making shear scrapers. A number of other fine articles fill out the issue.

KUDOS!

Thanks to Dick Moody for his work on the Rocky Mountain Woodturning Symposium Brochure. It turned out great! Be sure to pick up your copy at the next meeting. Also, pick up extras and distribute them at your favorite related businesses. Also, don't forget to hand them out to your friends. This is a great time to increase our membership!

Secondly, the following picture appeared in the September 1999 Woodshop News. Nice piece Trent!

Final Shavings:

This is a trial run of sending out the newsletter to ALL that have an e-mail address. This has a two-fold purpose. One, we can cut our newsletter cost in half and also, the e-mail recipients will get at least twice as much information in the newsletter "e-zine".

*FREE INTERNET? Are you crazy? Yes it is possible and yes, it is free! You say nothing is free and what is the catch? Ok. I found out about a site called Netzero.net. The provider allows you to access ALL of the internet and email at NO CHARGE! The "catch" is that you are required to display a 1"x6" title bar that is moveable to anywhere on your screen. You cannot delete the title bar or your connection will be terminated. I use the service more and more and like it better than my AOL account. The best part is that it is free! Think of it as listening to the radio. You don't pay anything to listen to your radio, but the advertisers pay for their spots so that the station can stay on the air. This is the same concept here! The advertisers pay for your connection. It is that simple. Check it out at www.netzero.net. There is a local access number for Fort Collins and additional numbers for the rest of the front range of Colorado.

The whole point to this is that if you are getting the newsletter by US Mail, then you are missing out on a lot of good information. I can't possibly put all of this information in a couple of pages and keep our newsletter costs down. Remember, the cost savings helps up bring well-known woodturners to our club. And that is what it is all about.

So if you have a computer and have been dragging your feet about paying $15-20 per month for internet access, you now have no excuse to get your own netzero account. Ed.
